YOUNG BOY DIES IN NAVY SERVICE

Bassett Newcom, 18, Son of C. R. Newcom, Contracts The Measles.

The remains of Bassett Newcom, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Newcom, of Owensboro, arrived here Tuesday afternoon from Great Lakes, Ill., where the United States naval training camp is located and where he died very unexpectedly Monday morning at 7 o'clock. They were taken to the home of his aunt, Mrs. R. L. Moore, to await the funeral and burial hour which was set for Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The body lay as if asleep in the parlor, dressed in the uniform of the United States navy, of which he was so proud, and was covered and surrounded with a mass of flowers, tokens of love from the boys and girls who knew him, from the church he attended, from the school and Sunday school. He was a favorite with his associates and kind and affectionate to his brother and parents.

The telegram which came to the home in Owensboro Monday morning was delivered to Mrs. Newcom, and pierced the loving mother's heart like a keen edged sword. She fell as if dead and kind neighbors rushed to her prostrate form to revive her if possible and to console her in the loss, thus cruelly told to her, of her first born son, her noble boy, Bassett. The family did not even know of any serious illness. He had written them of an attack of measles, but had not mentioned any relapse and all were entirely unprepared for the tragic news so shockingly brought to them. The father was hastily summoned and departed as soon as possible for Evansville to meet the body, while the mother and brother came here to await in darkness and gloom the sad home coming. The casket was taken Wednesday morning to the First Baptist church, where Rev. J. B. Trotter preached the funeral. The interment followed in the new cemetery.

George Bassett Newcom was born on the old Newcom homestead near Oakland in this county on the Flynn's Ferry road, Dec. 28th, 1898. A strange coincidence being that the natal day of his great uncle, Gordon Flanary, and his great grandmother, Mrs. Isabel Flanary, were both the same as his, Dec. 28th. He was just turning into his nineteenth year and was an unusually bright boy, so full of hope and ambition to get out into the big world and do something for himself and for his country. Besides the grief-stricken parents, he is survived by one brother, Clarence.

OUR CHATAUQUA FOR THIS YEAR

Will be in June According to Present Plans—Bigger And Better Than Ever.

Marion's annual Red path Chatauqua, according to present plans, commences on June 21st, and closes the 28th, as announced by Harry Dunbar, one of the Redpath superintendents, who came in last Thursday afternoon for a short conference with the committee.

Mr. Dunbar did not have any trouble in arousing enthusiasm for the program, containing as it really does so many unusual and interesting features. Speaking of these he said:

"We are bringing Creator and his great band for two concerts this year, feeling that there was insistent demand for one of the leading organizations of this kind. Scarcely less notable is the splendid Gilbert & Sullivan Opera Company, consisting of twenty singers and fourteen players, thirty four in all. In the afternoon of their day they will give a festival program of choral and orchestral work, in one part of which the singers appear as a vested choir. During this part, only sacred works will be sung.

In the evening of that day, the company gives a complete performance of "The Mikado" with an all star cast. This production is most elaborately staged and the cast includes some of the most noted artists of former Gilbert & Sullivan performances. The part of Ko-Ko the Lord High Executioner is in the hands of Mr. Andrews, formerly of the Andrews Opera Company, who has played the part more than 1200 times. Arthur Aldrich the principal tenor was leading tenor with De Wolf Hopper last season, and later principal tenor at the Hippodrome in New York. The other singers are all of the highest rank.

The Oratorio artists including Reed Miller the noted tenor Nevada Van der Veer, contralto, Frederic Wheeler, basso, Marie Stodard soprano and Blanche Barbot, pianiste, whose records made for the Columbia phonograph company are sold in every community in America, will give one of their superb concerts on the evening of the third day of the assembly.

Miss Jeannette Rankin, America's first congresswoman is under contract to speak. In case congress continues in session beyond the time of the Marion assembly, it is probable that Neilson, member of the British parliament will speak in her place. Mr. Bryan says that Dr. is the best Harden's lecture America and world of Tomorrow is the greatest presentation of present day world conditions that he has ever heard. Dr. Harden speaks the first day. Other speakers include Gatling Gun Fogleman, the virile efficiency expert, Fraulein Marie Mayer of Oberammergau, Bavaria, who played the part of Mary Magdalene in the world famous Passion Play at its last decennial production in 1910, Benjamin Franklin McDonald, whose "Moonshine" intoxicates only with joy of the helpful kind, and a number of others.

A community singing master will stay the entire time, leading the great audiences in this latest Chicken Stealers May Go To Pen.

Bill to Make Offense Punishable by Term in State Prison Likely to Pass.

Springfield, April 4.—Representative Pace of Macomb is confident his bill making chicken stealing in Illinois punishable by from one to five years in the penitentiary, will be passed by the house.

He points out that the present sentences do not halt such offenders, and that four or six months in jail just tends to fatten instead of reform them.

On the other hand, Pace says, they would have to work in the penitentiary, and this is decidedly against their idea of easy living.

Potatoes is Potatoes.

No longer is the Irish potato to be insulted with such names as "spud" and "Murphy," and appreciative consumer sends in his orders to the grocer for a "half peck of Ruckefellers" and the clerk respectfully ask the potatoes to kindly permit him to enounce them in a paper poke. —Miami Metropolis.

musical diversion. Each evening's program will conclude with fifteen minutes of unusual moving pictures, mostly scientific, such as are not shown at picture shows.

The supervised play and story hours with the children, will culminate in a big "Mother Goose" festival the sixth evening preceding Miss Rankin's lecture.

There are other splendid features to be announced later. It certainly looks like ticket holders will receive full value.

Attention, Farmers County Agents And Commercial Club.

The Kentucky State Fair offers $700.00 in prizes for the best display of agricultural products grown in any one county in Kentucky during the year 1917.

The Kentucky State Fair, believing that the purpose and intent of its organization was to benefit, faster, build up and advance the agricultural development and interest in this State, will offer this year prizes totaling seven hundred $700.00 dollars, for the best display of agricultural products, including grains, hay, feeds, forages, straw, tobacco, hemp, vegetables, fruits fresh, canned and preserved, honey, syrups, sugars, cured meats, poultry products, dairy products, and all other agricultural products, which may be produced in any county in Kentucky during the year 1917.

Prizes will be divided as follows. $250.00 to the county winning first prize, $150.00 to the county winning second prize, $100.00 to the county winning third prize.

The county winning first prize will also receive a sterling silver championship cup costing $100.

While another $100.00 is set apart to be divided as follows. $50.00 to the first, $30.00 to the second, and $20.00 to the third, to be given to the representatives of the respective winning counties working up the exhibits.

The awards will be made by three (3) disinterested, competent judges, and the considerations governing the awards will be quality and quantity of exhibits, and taste displayed in the arrangement of the exhibition of same.

All products for this exhibit must be started to the Kentucky State Fair, either in wagon or by train, not later than Wednesday, September 5, 1917, to be arranged and ready for judging at noon of Saturday September 8th. No exhibit, or any portion of an exhibit, not started to the Kentucky State Fair by Wednesday, September 5th., will be considered in the judging of same. This should enable all interior counties, or counties from a remote distance from the Kentucky State Fair grounds, to compete on the same terms, conditions and footing as those counties lying nearer to the Kentucky State Fair grounds. If necessary, the member in charge may require an affidavit setting forth the date of cutting, removing or starting of any products exhibited in this class to the Kentucky State Fair.

As a suggestion, I advise any one in any county, who contemplates his county being represen-

ALASKA IS FIFTY YEARS OLD

That Is, As An American Territory --"Seward's Folly" Found Worthy.

Washington, Mar. 30.—Alaska's fiftieth anniversary today as a part of the United States was signalized by Sec'y Lane, of the Interior Department, with a statement in which he said:

"Alaska's period of trial is over. She has been weighed in the balance and found magnificently worthy."

Mr. Lane said the wisdom of William Seward, the Secretary of State, who negotiated Alaska's purchase in 1867 against virulent opposition, had been justified, and after fifty years actual financial statements show and prove conclusively "that to have neglected that opportunity would have been a colossal blunder, a blunder future generations could never forgive."

The 600,000 square miles of territory, bought for about two cents an acre, at $7,200,000, have brought more than $750,000,000 into the channels of American trade. Mr. Lane said, and the profits are just beginning to come in. "A scant 65,000 people are living in that vast country, one-fifth as large as the United States," he said. "One hundred million dollars formed their contribution for 1916. What it will be in 1916 no man can predict."

REV. BAIRD LEAVES FOR HIS HOME

After Assisting in Revival at The Methodist Church Here For Two Weeks

Rev. W. P. Baird of Henderson who did the preaching here three times a day for two weeks at the revival services conducted at the Methodist church, left for his home Saturday morning. His discourses were listened to by good audiences at each service notwithstanding some inclement weather during his stay here and he impressed his hearers with his earnestness and sincerity. He is an able logician, a fluent speaker and a gentleman of scholarly attainments and these, coupled with extensive travel which has given him a keen insight into things which interest the world and the church of today, made each of the services a pleasure to those who were fortunate enough to be able to attend. The services have been continued by Rev. H. R. Short, the pastor, will close with the baptism of a large class of candidates easter morning.

Arrested in Florida Tuesday on Serious Charge.

Henry Pike, who has for a number of years been a rural mail carrier out of Waverly, was arrested in Miami, Fla., Tuesday on a charge of deserting his children under sixteen years of age and failing to provide for them. The penalty for the offense is from one to five years in the penitentiary.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE WOMAN WHO VOTES

AS SEEN BY AN ON-LOOKER

She Is Domestic--She Is Vitrally Interested in Social Legislation--She Is Not Vitrally Interested in Political Jobs--Sex Antagonism Unknown in West

In the recent Presidential election the woman voter exploded numerous theories about herself and established a few facts. To the query would she vote if she had the ballot, the West emphatically replied, YES! To the query, would she vote as her husband voted, the West emphatically replied NO! Political parties complain bitterly of the irresponsibility of the woman voter, meaning that women can't be corralled, molded into party form, and made to voice their opinions as a unit. They show a maddening independence in searching a ballot. Republican women have been openly accused of voting for a Democratic president, and Democratic women of deserting to a Republican candidate. And the women don't deny it, they blantly explain that they vote for the best man, irrespective of party.

HER SUFFRAGE SASH AROUND THE WORLD

China now has a lively suffrage society, agitating for three great reforms: The abolition of the opium traffic, of foot binding and of child slavery.

While there is no organized effort to secure woman suffrage among Japanese women, they are heading rapidly that way. The latest news from Cherry Blossom land is that

(Copyright by National American Woman Suffrage Association.)

One hundred thousand women have founded an organization to demand their rights and have sworn never to marry unless their prospective husbands agree to support a movement for obtaining for them equal treatment with men, matrimonially and morally, and an improved economic position.

India boasts a well defined suffrage movement with some good working organizations, like the notable one at Mussoorie. Women in Bombay and Bagdad have the municipal suffrage, and Hindu, Mohammedan, Parsi and Buddhist women have voted in the municipality of Rangoon, in Burmah, for thirty years.

The women of Argentina, while still far from the vanguard of the woman movement, are waking up to modern possibilities. Today, many of them are working as heads of large humanitarian societies, which they have organized to help women and children. They have taken the first step. The second step comes when the women think a little further and endeavor to prevent the wrongs they see by demanding a voice in law-making.

A clause has been added to the revised constitution of Holland making women eligible to all governing offices and giving them a chance to get the ballot as soon as the government in power will grant it.

The Western woman is, perhaps, as busy a person as any woman of the country. Her domestic interests form a beehive of industry. The West is a place of homes and intimate family life; so acute is the servant problem, that even wealthy women are often compelled to be their own cooks and bottle-washers. They can handle a vacuum-cleaner with all the skill of an experienced hand. They have children, not in ones and twos, but in the good old-fashioned way of sixes and sevens. There is not the acute lineup between riches and poverty that the East has developed in its millionaires and factory hands. The majority of families are in comfortable circumstances; they live a sane outdoor, busy, healthy existence. The women take their politics as an adjunct of their homes.

Keen About Social Legislation. The women seem inclined to leave the machinery of government in the hands of the men; what they want is results. They are keen about good schools, well paved streets, sanitary homes, moral and social conditions. Every legislature finds some women at the various capitols, looking after a bill the women are behind, but the bill usually deals with a social issue. While the western women are becoming more keenly interested in, as they grow more familiar with, their municipal and national problems, they are not, according to politicians, showing any great eagerness for political jobs. Sometimes the women turn a trick on the men in a spirit of good-natured rivalry as in the case of Umatilla, Oregon, where the women plotted over their treacups to replace the town councilmen with women. The mayor, Mr. E. E. Starbuck, was defeated for re-election by his wife, Mrs. E. E. Starbuck, and he didn't seem to mind. He just proceeded to get his desk into shape for the incoming incumbent and it isn't even recorded that he gave her any advice. Four councilmen, including the recorder and treasurer, lost their jobs to women. The women were not entirely satisfied with Umatilla, and they wanted to try their hand at improvement, and the men were willing.

No Sex Antagonism. The spirit of comradeship between men and women of the West is inspiring to an Easterner who has been frightened by the bogey that suffrage would destroy all those womanly qualities which attract men. In no part of the country do men and women seem so nearly to complement each other as in those sections where they are working out their civic problems together. One finds the western man even more aggressive in his endorsement of woman suffrage than the western woman. As an instance of how much it is taken for granted, at a recent conference of Progressives and Republicans, in Seattle, held to draft a tentative platform for the purpose of uniting Progressives and Republicans, the national suffrage amendment providing for nation-wide woman suffrage, was an inevitable part of the progressive legislation urged.

After the Grip What?

Did it leave you weak, low in spirits and vitality? Influenza is a catarrhal disease, and after you recover from the acute stage much of the catarrh is left. This and your weakness invite further attacks.

The Tonic Needed is Peruna.

AN ENGLISH TRIBUTE TO POE

De Maupassant and Kipling Owe Something to American Writer, Says Englishman.

The detective story and the murder mystery are not forms of art great literary value, but I must confess to predilection for stories about crime, and there is some authority for the view that "murder is the most gentlemanly crime that anybody can commit."

Those who share my taste for homicide in fiction—and I find it fairly widespread—have reason to be grateful to Poe. His Lupin is a prince of detectives and the father of an illustrious progeny; while such connoisseurs of the law of the land as Raffles and Arsene Lupin are Poe's illegitimate children. Indeed, Poe's influence in France has been greater than among the English-speaking people. Every student of French literature knows that but for Poe, Balzac, Mallarme and Villiers de Hile-Adam would have been something very different from what they were, and M. Remy de Gourmont says in one of his penetrating essays that "Eugene Sue, Balzac and Dostoevsky, in 'Crime and Punishment,' have all taken lessons from Poe."

It would be interesting to study the way in which his technique of the short story was adopted and modified by Guy de Maupassant, and how, after having filtered through Maupassant's mind, it has returned to English literature through the medium of Mr. Kipling—"Penguin" in the London Nation.

NOT SO BAD OFF, AFTER ALL

Folks Should Be Mightily Thankful They Are Not Grasshoppers or Potato Beetles.

In these days when the cost of living seems to be attached to the tail of a rocket going skyward there is still something, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, for which we may be thankful. Suppose, for instance, that instead of the amount that we now eat, we required from 500 to 1,000 pounds of food every 24 hours, as we would if we had appetites like the potato beetle in his heyday.

At suppose we required from a half a ton to a ton of provisions every day, as we would if we ate as much in proportion to our size as does the grasshopper. Even if we had light appetites like the caterpillar, it would take from 200 to 400 pounds of food each day to satisfy us. Yet, we can be thankful that we are not caterpillars, potato bugs or grasshoppers, if appetite.

Great Problem Solved.

A street carnival now touring the South is seemingly the repository of a most perplexing military secret. On a recent visit by this particular carnival to a Tennessee city a part of the attending throng heard a banker exclaim the clairvoyant powers of Madame—

"This goddess of wisdom, while thoroughly blundered, gave instant answer to any questions. The seeker after truth merely wrote on a slip of paper the question nearest his heart, which, being read out by the banker in the hearing of all the crowd, was as publicly answered."

Whether Madame still loved Tom and where the old hermit buried the gold were questions legitimate enough, but that somebody had taken advantage of a lady's trustful disposition her answer revealed when Madame— "Where is Villa?" Her reply was: "Her real name is Villa. It is Margaret, and she is now in Atlanta Ga."—Saturday Evening Post.

Two World Wonders.

A spirited voting contest has been concluded in Germany to decide which are the seven wonders of the twentieth century. After the enormous volume of votes cast was counted, it was found that the majority had placed the wireless telegraph at the head of the list and the Panama canal second. The third of the seven wonders, it was decided, is the dirigible airship; next in order, the flying machine, radium, the cinematograph and the steamship Imperator.

A Dream.

Last night I felt quite sleepy, and I jumped right into bed. When a lot of horrible visions came flying through my head, I dreamed we had an election from Piney to Hurricane creek sound, and everybody was excited over automobile bones. Billy Yandell on a high trapeze tried hard today a fling, Johnnie Blue and Clemmie Nunn from the stump their auto-bored speeches did save, and Trice Benet did a circus act, with Windy Wilson as the clown. But old farmer Burr Tail says: "If y's, old Crittenden you can not bond." Jeffery Travis was an ink slinger. He dished out letters, circled as a d church, and Edith Franks sent in speeches from away off in foreign parts. Dear Marshall was the editor o keep the peace, was bound.

And up jumped farmer Burr Tail saying: "By the eternal old Crittenden you can not bond." T. C. is T. H. C., and J. H. C. they are as clever as any men in town, they have a Maxwell or an Overland to do the running around. On election morning they brought their cars out and run about to see that everything was trim, then they sent them to the sticks to bring the board members in. They each, said to the drivers, as they were about to start, "Now be careful and bear in mind that old farmer Burr Tail must vote for the bonds if he rides in this car of mine." Honk! Honk! Honk!! sounded the Maxwell's mighty horn as it stopped by the wayside where the farmer was hauling corn. "Jump in, old hayseed, now is the time of your life and yourself, your county, your kids and your wife."

"Get out, old hayseed," shouted as loud as he could yell. "When the poles are closed this evening auto-bus will be dead—er than h—ll."

Then, kind friends, I did awake and found this all a dream. Then we got the news from the precincts all around. Boys, you cannot bond the county while farmer Burr Tail is around. Old Hayseed.

New Suffrage Map For 1917.

North Dakota makes the first contribution to the suffrage map in 1917. The bill for presidential suffrage passed both houses last month and Governor Frazier signed it January 23. Thus does a great commonwealth add five more electoral votes to the quota in which women are already directly concerned. That quota is now ninety-six. Full suffrage is confidently expected to follow as fast as North Dakota legislative procedure allows.

Duluth to Arrest Those Who Verbally Attack U. S.

Duluth, Minn., March 28.—Police here were instructed to arrest anyone making an un-American remark in public.

"With the country on the verge of war," said a police captain to his men as they were lined up at headquarters. "We want to remember that every citizen in this country owes it to the United States to be patriotic in every sense of the word. Officers are to arrest, without hesitation, anyone who attacks verbally, institutions dear to all true Americans."

Muscle Soreness Relieved

Unusual work, bending and lifting or strenuous exercise is a strain on the muscles, they become sore and stiff, you are crippled and in pain. Sloan's Liniment brings you quick relief, easy to apply, it penetrates without rubbing and drives out the soreness. A clear liquid, cleaner than musky plasters or ointments, it does not stain the skin or clog the pores. Always have a bottle handy for the pains or aches of rheumatism, gout, lumbago, grippe, bruises, stiff joints, backache and all external pain. At your druggist's.

Would be Postmasters Must Take Examination.

Washington, March 28.—President Wilson will issue within the next few days an order which will require the examination of candidates for all first, second and third class postmasterships.

A NEW SKIN.

Snakes throw off their outer skin once a year. Human beings change their skin perhaps nine times in a year; that is, they have a new skin about once in six weeks.

The value of a clean skin in maintaining health is not properly understood by the majority of people. Cleanliness is a part of health. You cannot be healthy unless you are clean not only externally, but also internally.

The blood should also be assisted occasionally, like the skin, in throwing off poisons so that the system may not get clogged and leave a weak spot for disease germs to enter the system. When the blood is clogged, we suffer from what is commonly called a cold.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and eradicates all poisons that breed and feed disease. It is best for scrofula, eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptions that mar and mar the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cleanses the blood of impurities, but it increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and it enriches the body with an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

Take it as directed and it will search out and impure and poisonous matter in the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys and drive it from the system through the natural channels.

RIGHT HERE IN KENTUCKY.
Louisville, Ky.—"For all of ten years I have depended on Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. My husband and I both use them. They are the best remedy for biliousness and constipation. I am a practical nurse and I know what I say. I gladly recommend them."—Mrs. A. C. Crocker, 2015 Bank St.

Constipation causes and seriously aggravates many diseases. Then regulate stomach, liver and bowels by taking Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

Worth While Quotation.

"We only see in a lifetime a dozen faces marked with the peace of a contented spirit."—Henry Ward Beecher.

MISS RANKIN, OF MONTANA.

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

When Miss Jeanette Rankin of Missoula, Montana, takes her seat in the National House of Representatives among 434 men, it will be a sight for men and angels.

It will be an act symbolic of the progress of the human race. The nation will watch her as the fond mother watches her baby take its first step.

It will be as significant as when the first black man cast his vote. Dr. Luther uttered his protest in the Diet of Worms. Or the teacher rallied to order the children in the first public school in the United States.

Or the French people said good-by to their last king.

Or the last witch was hanged.

Or the last heretic was roasted.

Or the last man imprisoned for debt.

Or the first telegram sent over the land, or the first cablegram under the ocean, or the first wireless message through space.

"The world do move," and when Miss Rankin takes her place in the legislative body of the greatest nation on earth, you can almost see said world start forward like an automobile when the driver throws in the clutch.

Carlyle called Dante "the voice of ten silent centuries." Miss Rankin will be the voice of forty.

The incident will be another mark of democracy coming of age; the entrance of one-half of the citizens into conscious self-government. It will mean one-half of the population emerging from bondage.

It will signify the triumph of reason over prejudice and petrified custom.

It will indicate that the day is approaching when the woman and the child shall assume their rightful prominence in the eye of government, and that lawmakers shall turn their minds to education, to public health, and to human welfare, to something else besides swords and pocketbooks.

In the sea of democracy woman shall no more dwell upon an island of disfranchisement.

And the sonorous saying of the judicious Hooker shall take on new meaning, that "of law no less can be said than that all things in heaven and earth do her homage—the very least as feeling her care, and the greatest as exempted from her power."

THE WOMAN WHO WENT BEFORE

Our Bark Floats Down The River.

They are leaving, they are leaving for the better world on high. How frequent, oh, frequent comes the bitter words "goodbye." One by one they drop and leave us, and pass unto their rest. But 'tis God who doth bereave us, it is all for the best.

This life is full of changes, its pleasures cannot last. These scenes that are now with us, how soon they will be past. Our barks float down the river our journeys almost o'er. Ere long we'll cast our anchor over on the golden shore.

With Jesus for our captain oh, what have we to fear? His presence will protect us, He will ever be so near: He's a staff unto each pilgrim, and a light upon the road That leads to yon bright mansion in our Father's blessed abode.

Oh, may our prospects brighten as the shores of time grow dim; May love grow still the stronger the love of Christ within. May sin never cross our pathway and leave its loathsome stain; But time speed here in usefulness, prove life's not all in vain.

"Yes, in the Hartford, as you advised."
"Now I suppose you'll never think about fire again."
"Why should I?"
"Do you want to have a fire?"
"I should say not!"
"Well, do you know what the Hartford does to help you prevent fires?"
"The agent started to say something about that, but I was in a hurry and—"
"You'd better go back and hear what he has to say. It's worth listening to. The Hartford is making a campaign for fire prevention. Their experts will investigate any proposition a Hartford policy-holder puts up to them and advise the best means of fire prevention."

GOOD-NIGHT.

The lark is silent in his nest,
The lark is sighing in his flight,
Sleep, be ye, and peaceful be thy rest,
Good-night, my love, good-night, good-night.
Sweet dreams attend thee in thy sleep,
To soothe thy rest till morning's light,
A drowsy round thee vigil keep,
Good-night, my love, good-night, good-night.
Sleep well, my love, on Night's dark breast,
While speed the hours in somber flight,
Lie thou in slumber's blissful blast,
Good-night, my love, good-night, good-night.

women and men of the Southern Confederacy at a cost of $150,- will be 320 feet high.

Under an order recently issued by Secretary of the Navy Daniels permitting women to enlist in the navy, Miss Lorette Walsh of Philadelphia was sworn in by Lieutenant Commander F.

not go to sea on a great battle-cruiting station in Philadelphia.

A company of three hundred young women organized and will be ready.

We rise to say that we favor the act which would send out at once, on any old vessel, the 11 senators and the 13 members of the house who by their devilish filibustering, defeated the Armed Ship bill. We would love to see how they would look when Germany's little submarine cross-ther we would like to say we would not consider it an "overact" on the part of Germany and would not declare war—

Clarence H. Mackay and his mother have given a hospital unit to the United States Government. The announcement was made by W. Emilem Roosevelt, president of Roosevelt Hospital, New York, of the organization of a hospital base unit of 500 beds, which will be available to the United States Government whenever needed. The unit, which, in addition to the 500 beds includes twenty-two surgeons and a staff numbering 150 persons, is the joint gift of Clarence
H. Mackay and his mother, Mrs.
John W. Mackay. This unit will comprise a gift of approximately $1,000,000.

The Southern Pacific railroad provides transportation for the families of some of its construction gangs, who are compelled to move as the work progresses.
The families include a number of children who do not remain in one place long enough to attend school. In order that they may receive an education, the company has turned a box car into a school, equipped with desks, blackboards and other essentials.
A teacher is provided and a regular school program is in progress, even when the children are traveling at a good speed.
The pupils are of several nationalities, but are being turned into true Americans under the American flag, which floats over the school car.

In the San Antonio Light, published in Texas, one of the States to be "reconquered" by Mexico, we read that the people of Texas view with complacency
the cold-blooded proposition by Germany that the State should become Mexican territory provided Mexico joins Germany and Japan in a war against the United States. They have no fear that such a thing will happen to them. They know that even the left entirely to their own resources, they will be able to avoid compulsory Mexican citizenship. It is conceivable that enormous Japanese and German armies advancing through Mexico might, for a time, occupy Texas, but Mexico would gain no population thereby. It can be asserted with quiet modesty and simple truth that when Texas had been overrun such Texas as were still living would be beyond or on the border fighting their way home.

Spread out near a little log cabin—an obscure, but immaculate home.

I paused to admire—who could help it?—the weedless expanse near the door.

Where, pleased with my pleased inspection, stood a "mammy"
of years that are worn.

"A beautiful garden," I ventured. She cupped a brown hand to her ear.

"Fine garden!" I shouted—"Oh sholy! It ought to be fine—I lives here!"

I went on my way with a sermon, the greatest I ever had heard.
The highest-paid preacher existent could never have added a word.

Were every human who cumber the finest spot of the earth
To see that the place he inhabits—the work, brain, or fingers give birth—

Stood perfect as e'er he could make it—dear God! what a different sphere!

Let's borrow our motto from "mammy": "It ought to be fine—I lives her!"

Owensboro Youth, Impatient to Join Navy, Enlists After Deserting Indolgent Home.

The Evansville Courier had this to say of Basset Newcom's tragic death.

Grief-stricken, C. R. Newcomb, prominent in Owensboro, Ky., sat in a chair at the naval recruiting station yesterday afternoon and waited for the remains of his 18-year old son to arrive in this city.

The boy ran away from home seven weeks ago to enlist in the navy. He was refused here but was accepted at Terre Haute or Indianapolis. After being made a petty officer of a company at the training station, Great Lakes Ill., he contracted measles and died.

The shock caused his mother, already upset over her boy's desertion of the home to suffer a nervous collapse. Her condition was dangerous yesterday.

The father, seeking to influence the boy to complete high school course, had often promised to do his best to get him an appointment at Annapolis after he should complete his academic course. The lad was impatient, however, and after being refused enlistment here because of his failure to procure consent papers, went on north and evaded the objection made here.

200 From Destroyed Ships Brought to Port.

Rio Janeiro, Mar. 30.—The French bark Cambonne has arrived here with two hundred men of the crews of various steamers and sailing ships sunk by a German raider off the island of Trinidad. They reported that many sailors from the sunken vessels were drowned.

The rescued sailors, who are French, English and Italian, report that the raider is an armed sailing ship with a gasoline motor. They say the raider showed the Norwegian flag and when it sighted a ship signalled it to approach. As soon as the ship obeyed the signal the raider hoisted the German flag and opened fire.

Lincoln's Ax Discovered.

Lincoln's birthday brought out the fact that Mrs. S. J. Vandeaver, 80 years old, living in Montgomery, Mo., has the very ax with which the martyred president made rails while working with her uncle, William Smith, in Center county, Ind., before Lincoln entered politics. She refused to sell it but allowed it to be exhibited in her home on Lincoln's birthday. Her uncle's farm joined Lincoln's and they split rails together, Lincoln giving the ax to Smith when he left for Illinois.—Somer-set (Ky.) News.

THE GREAT CREATURE COMING WITH HIS BAND THIS SEASON

Mikado Light Opera Company Also Billed On Redpath Program. Chautauqua Week Of 1917.

Announcement For This City Shows New Note In Popular Program Building, But With Same High Standards Maintained

The Redpath program in this city for 1917, bigger and better than ever, has just been announced from chautauqua headquarters in Chicago. Blistering with compelling interest from first to last, this program includes such outstanding features as the Mikado Light Opera company of thirty members and the great Creature and his band. Throughout the week are more of what one might call popular numbers than usual, a fact which will be acceptable to the majority of the chautauqua going public. While some radical changes have been made in the style and make-up of the program, the same high standard of attractions is maintained as in the program of past years.

Everybody likes a band. Since the days when we followed our first circus parade, to the pulsing strains of the uniformed band sitting aloft in their gilded, palatial wagon drawn by prancing horses, we have never quite lost the magic thrill which always returns when we hear the rousing strains of a good band. Creature is one of the greatest band leaders our country has ever known. When the well known Italian leader first came to this country he was a veritable sensation. Dramatic, picturesque in his directing, and cyclonic in his energy, he was a marvel of emotional intensity and a revelation of musical possibilities. He quickly became the rage. Creature's genius lay, not only in his singular ability to impart to his men the contagion of his vivid emotions, but also in his unusual mastery of instrumentation.

Creature has had a striking influence in the development of hand music in this country. When he comes to the chautauqua for the closing day it is safe to say he will be greeted by a crowd that will tax the capacity of the tent. Many people are very apt to regard grand opera as high brow something that appeals to the few rather than the many. Be this as it may, light opera appeals to all classes. Gilbert and Sullivan's Mikado, which is scheduled for another of the seven days, is one of the most tuneful and refreshingly humorous light operas ever written. It is easily understood and uproariously funny from start to finish. No composers of light opera in English have ever approached the subtle charm and the unerring artistry of Gilbert and Sullivan. They will live as long as opera lasts.

This is to be an elaborate production. Beautiful costumes and superb scenery have been provided. The tent at night will take on the appearance of an oriental garden, with Japanese lanterns hanging everywhere. There will be thirty people in the cast, including the orchestra. Ed Andrews, who takes the role of Ko-Ko, has played the part of Ko-Ko over 1,200 times. He is the most famous Ko-Ko living today. The principal tenor is Arthur Alarich, who was the leading man in the W. L. Horner's recent revival of Gilbert and Sullivan. The two principal women's parts will be sung by Miss St. Clair of the Alhambra, and Miss Hutcherson, recently of the Boston Opera Company. Every part has been assigned to a competent singer. This production will not only be one of the most meritorious but one of the most enjoyable ever given by the Redpath.

Another of the radically new features of this year will be community singing each day under the direction of a trained leader. The audiences during the week will in this way be given an opportunity to take a more active part in the chautauqua. Nothing in the musical life of America is more hopeful or significant than the movement for community singing now sweeping over the entire country. In all the larger cities and in many of the smaller ones during the past year, people have come together in great numbers to give expression to their natural love for music. In Chicago last summer it was inspiring to hear 4,000 voices each night for a week on the Municipal Pier giving vent to their patriotic feeling through our national airs. Professor W. L. Tomlinson, who had charge of these community sings in Chicago, has been secured by the Redpath to select and coach the leaders who will direct the community singing at the chautauqua this summer.

Another departure from former years, and one which has much educational value, will be the introduction on moving pictures each night at the close of the regular program. These moving pictures will be much talked of and will be an additional incentive for attending chautauqua. The Mother Goose festival will delight the children. Grownups also will be pleased to meet again those well remembered characters from the days of nursery lore, which will come forth from an especially constructed "Mother Goose" book. Another day will feature Antonio Sala, noted Spanish cellist, and Watahwaso, an Indian princess prima donna. Watahwaso appears in Indian costume, singing Indian songs and telling Indian legends. She is young and beautiful, vivacious, and gifted with a personality one seldom meets on the platform. She will easily prove a sensation. The lectures of this season will again bring the usual inspiration and helpfulness, both to individuals and communities, so essential to a well balanced chautauqua week. Everyone will remember the great Health day program presented by Dr. Chas. E. Barker two years ago. This year "Efficiency" as a subject which is only second to "Health" will be featured. The specialist on this subject will be H. L. Fogelman, of New York City, known as "Gatling-gun Fogelman," because of his ability to speak 300 words a minute. Mr. Fogelman makes the point that every human being is a salesman, if he sells nothing more than his personality. In a magnetic way he will explain the laws of salesmanship which would let rest women in their homes as much as meteorologists in their stores.

Miss Mari Mayer, who played the part of Mary Magdalene in the Passion Play at Oberammergau in 1910, the only actor in this world-famous drama who has ever spoken in America, will lecture on the Passion Play and the tragic fate of her unhappy people in the midst of a world at war.

Dr. George L. McNutt, widely known as "the dinner pail man" who many years ago left a Presbyterian pulpit in Illinois to study labor conditions, comes on this program with a timely and eloquent message. Mr. McNutt has gained his knowledge in the laboratory of living men. He has worked in the shops, in the western camps and even on the streets.

Provided that Congress is not in session, Miss Jeanette Rankin, America's first Congresswoman, will be one of the headline lecturers of chautauqua week. Miss Rankin has already been engaged for this entire chautauqua tour and only the calling of an extra session of Congress will change her plans. Should an extra session be called, another headline lecturer will take her place on the chautauqua program while she is in Washington.

The Oratorio Artists, which come on the third day, is one of the standard high class quartets of this generation. Reed Miller is probably the best known oratorio tenor in this country. He was born in South Carolina and received there his early musical education. He has appeared on many occasions with Walter Damrosch and the New York Symphony orchestra, the Philharmonic club of Minneapolis and the Apollo club of Chicago. Frederick Wheeler, bass, has toured with many famous organizations, including Victor Herbert and his orchestra. Myrtle Thornburgh, soprano, has appeared with the New York Symphony orchestra as well as many leading choral societies. Nevada Van Der Veer, the contralto, won success abroad before coming to this country and has sung with some of the most famous organizations in this country, including the New York Symphony orchestra. Each one is widely known for his or her phonograph records. The Oratorios will delight the most discriminating music lovers. Nothing better has ever appeared under Redpath management.

We are informed by the Redpath management that the talent this season is costing approximately $300 more per town than last year's program. The extra cost represents an additional expenditure rather than an advance in per capita salary. In spite of this increased cost and the rising tide of general prices for nearly everything one buys, chautauqua tickets are not costing any more than they did before. Here is one article at least that has not advanced in price.

Corn Belt Pushed Northward
In Farm and Fireside a writer says: "Securing a gain of a week or ten days in the ripening of corn means a great gain to farmers located near the northern limit of the corn growing districts of this country. A new variety of corn which has been bred for early maturity by the Wisconsin experiment station is thought to be about ten days earlier in maturing than any other strain of corn that has been produced by this state."

Wife Faints On Reading

News Of Husband's Death.

When Mrs. J. H. Churchill, of Bartlesville, Okla., casually scanned a Louisville afternoon paper on a train coming in from Owensboro yesterday evening, she fainted. Passengers rushed to her side and after a few moments restored her to consciousness. She told them that in the paper she had seen the first news of the death of her husband. His picture and that of his father greeted her eyes with the headlines, "Dies of Shock When Told Father Expired Day Before His Arrival."

Mr. Churchill had come from Bartlesville when informed that his father was seriously ill. He was met at the door of the home of his father, 816 South Nineteenth street, with the news that his father had died. Mr. Churchill was stricken with paralysis and died twelve hours later. His wife was hurrying in Louisville when she picked up a paper on the train and saw the notice of the double death, one of the deceased her husband.

FORD'S FERRY

There is a great deal of satisfaction in this neighborhood over the outcome of the recent election for the overwhelming majority of people in this precinct were against the proposed road bonds.

Harold Rankin went to Casad Saturday.

Quite a number of farmers in this neighborhood have been breaking up ground during the past week. The recent rain, however, will necessitate a general postponement of plowing for a number of days.

Roe Wofford and Elbert Lucas were the guests of Luther Clift Sunday.

Jimmy Rankin is contemplating enlisting in the navy and joining the crew of one of Uncle Sam's submarine chasers.

Henry Mayes, of Weeton, was in Ford's Ferry Saturday.

A large crowd attended the show which was held at Possum Ridge Tuesday night. There was a certain ventriloquist with the show who, in addition to throwing his voice, performed a number of other mystifying and entertaining tricks which held the audience somewhat spellbound. The majority of the people were well pleased with the entertainment.

Walter Hughes went to Casad Saturday.

Charley James and wife are making preparations to move on Robinson's farm where Charley will work during the present year.

Eb Wathen was in Ford's Ferry Saturday.

The river has been falling during the past few days.

Eddie Carlin, who is at present sojourning in this vicinity, is very enthusiastic in his praise of Arizona as a healthy country and he believes that it is unsurpassed in that respect by any other State in the Union. When Mr. Carlin was 20 years old he was badly afflicted with tuberculosis and a number of doctors pronounced his case as being hopeless. He was still hopeful enough, however, to make a final effort and he went to Arizona as quickly as possible, confidently believing that he would be benefited by the climate of that country. His expectations were abundantly fulfilled for after staying in that country a number of years he became vigorous and healthy in addition to gaining 30 pounds of bodily weight.

If Sura Cura Ointment fails to positively cure, sores, burns, ulcers, piles, eczema, itch, croup, sore throat, lame back, inflammatory rheumatism in its early stages we will gladly refund your money. Sold by James Henry Jr., and Haynes & Taylor, Marion, Ky., 25 and 50 cts.

Marion Leader: Superstitious people, and some who are not superstitious but merely observing are pointing to the fact that with the exception of the war with England in 1812 every foreign war in which the United States has been involved started during the month of April. The war of the Revolution began April 19, 1775, at Concord and Lexington. The war with Mexico began April 24, 1846 War was declared against Spain April 21, 1898. Now, in order to add force to this statement, let it be considered that the Civil War began with the Fort Sumter attack April 12, 1862, and the Black Hawk War, the greatest conflict with Indian forces, began April 21, 1832. The first week of April 1917 is about gone.

BLACKFORD

This is the month of April and the item readers who peruse this miscellany may think the contents intended for an "April-Fool," however, we shall try to couch our words in such language as to express the intended meaning.

The farmers in this region of the country are busy plowing and preparing for another crop. A number of plant beds have been burned and sown, and those who believe in gardening are rubbing up their goose-neck hoes as if they intended to garden some.

The water in Tradewater river has receded very nicely but owing to the recent rain some fears are entertained that we may yet have a high stage of water.

A number who have been ill of the La-Grippe are reported to be better and able to "navigate" again.

In a former item from this place, in the statement relative to the marriage of Miss Della Scott and Francis Phelps, we made a mistake which we hereby correct. There are two young ladies by the name of Scott, Misses Della and Daisy. The one that married was Miss Daisy while Miss Della, one of the enterprising teachers who is now teaching school at Oak Grove, is yet enjoying the realm of "blessed-singleness." As an apology for such a ludicrous blunder we simply confess that correspondents similar to editors and devils are liable to make mistakes.

We noticed in a recent issue of the Record-Press a very interesting communication from our Wesleyan Methodist friend, W. J. Hill, which we have read and re-read with a considerable satisfaction. The valuable interest that we took in said article and the lasting impression made on our minds cause us to conclude thus: When the time comes that Billy Joel Hill no longer mingles with the things of earth and the frail thread of life shall be broken, and his pure spirit like a bright winged bird takes its flight to that bourne from whence no traveler ever returns, the memory of his devotion and his earnest services to the cause of Christianity will be imperishable. Then those of us who yet survive may more fully realize the unmistakable meaning of the paragraph found in Holy Writ which reads: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them. Revelations 14:13.

We also observed in a later issue of the same paper a very lengthy article which was written by our "old-time" friend Mrs. E. L. Newcom, hailing from Portales, New Mexico, in which she very courteously reciprocates the sentiments expressed by friend Hill in his memorable epistle. While we were really pleased to read the communication from Mrs. Newcom, we must confess that from the life and vim of expressions contained in said article we could readily see that they were written by a Kentuckian.

While our motto is "Peace on earth and good will toward all mankind" and one of the irrevocable laws of a Puritan home was "that no fault-finding or complaining of neighbors or friends would be tolerated," we fear the injunction is too often digressed from. Blackford, similar to a number of other habitable villages, is somewhat addicted to gossip, and when the gossipers' ball begins to roll, round and round it goes, growing larger at each revolution. Remember the evils of the often repeated remark, "they say," etc., which when investigated is very often found to be groundless. As a matter of fact, it is far better to make our lives consistent with our profession, and (especially those who have their names on the church book) strictly guard against the too liberal use of that unruly member, the tongue. "Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall account thereof in the day of judgment." Matthew 12:36.

"Gossipers are despised
Owing to their silly chate;
And appear to discreet eyes
"Flab-ber-gasted" brats."
--Mullus.

In The Public Eyes.

Miss Ruth Law is said to be the first woman aviator to try the dangerous trick of flying by night. Queen Marie of Roumania is a very brilliant woman and has rare beauty.

Female college presidents and professors in the United States number over 2,000. Mrs. Mary Harriman, widow of E. H. Harriman has actual control of 25,000 miles of railroad and has domination voice in the conduct of 50,000 miles more.

The Duchess Chaiseul, formerly Miss Claire Coudelet of New York, who since the outbreak of the war has daily risked her life attending troops with infectious diseases, has been awarded a gold medal by the French government.

Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, is believed by the United States authorities to be in this country. The negro fighter, it is thought, has slipped out of New York, where he is supposed to have landed, and is hiding in an inland city.

Mrs. Bessie M. London, first wife of Jack London, declared that she would not turn over the custody of her two daughters, Joan and Bess London, to Mrs. Charmion K. London, the widow as requested in the writers' will.

Probably the most feted and attractive woman of American birth in England is Mrs. William B. Leeds widow of the tinplate king.

Vincent Astors fortune has been increased by a good part of the $5,000,000 trust fund which his father left to Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor as long as she remained a widow. She is now Mrs. William T. Dick, and the transfer of a few more buildings will doubtless complete the payment of the forfeit.

The death in Rome of Sir Francisco Paslo Tastic composer and song writer, is announced in a dispatch to the Arnas Agency. Tastic was born April 3, 1846, at Ortona, Italy. Among the songs composed by him were Amore, That Day, For Ever, Farewell and At Vespers.

President Wilson, speaking to twelve hundred men and women gathered at the dinner in New York tendered him by the Mayors committee of two hundred to celebrate the illumination of the Statue of Liberty, brought a thunder of applause from his audience when he declared his belief that world peace could come only with world liberty.

Story of Number 40

40 years ago an old doctor was putting up a medicine for diseases of the blood, that cured the worst cases of specific blood poison, and time proved that the cures were permanent. After many years I secured the prescription (being a druggist), and took each ingredient separately and referred to my U. S. Dispensary and other books on medicine and found the medical properties set down as follows: "Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in blood poison, scrofula, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, chronic rheumatism, catarrh, in sores, ulcers, skin eruptions, mercurial and lead poisoning. Under its use nodes, tumors and scrofulous swellings that have withstood all other treatment disappear as if by magic." To commemorate my fortieth year as a druggist I named this medicine Number 40 For The Blood. J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind.

There is some talk of Squire Coleman Woolly entering the race for County Judge but we have not heard as to his intentions. Squirers say they in any way.

After you dehorn your cattle, be sure and rub on a large amount of Cross' Salve. It protects them against all germs and keeps inflammation from setting up. Mr. Henry Walker says: "One of my cows accidentally broke her horn off close to her head, inflammation set up and soon a very serious wound developed. After trying everything I could think of, I heard of Cross' Salve and tried it. In three days the wound was perfectly well. I recommend it to every one after dehorning their cattle."

Twin Brothers Die and are Buried in Coffin Side by Side

Mayfield, Ky.—Noah and Nolan Howard, twin brothers who died near Lebanon of measles, followed by pneumonia, were buried in the Lebanon cemetery in the same coffin. A coffin 44 inches wide was bought from Louisville and taken to the burying ground in a transfer wagon. The baptist church at Sedalia having double doors, was the only place in the section which would admit the coffin and the funeral service was conducted there by the Rev. Ira Douthit and Aubrey Wilson of the Christian church.

South Carolina Falls in Line.

Kentucky started a bigger thing than she knew when she started the campaign against illiteracy. The South Carolina Legislature has just created an illiteracy commission to stamp out illiteracy from that State. First, tried out moonlight schools out in a few counties and found that they could wipe out illiteracy. Now, they are going at it in earnest.

RAPIDLY THE MOVING FINGER WRITES NOW

Great Events in World's History Take Giant Strides With Lightning Rapidity.

Great events are moving with lightning rapidity. Russia has been reborn. Germany is visibly weakening; the Allies are strengthening; the United States is preparing for war; the railroad strike has passed into history, and the supreme court has sealed the constitutionality of the Adamson law. All of the events are of first importance. In ordinary times they would have commanded the most intense attention, accompanied perhaps by considerable excitement. As it is, this rush of developments has been taken with comparative calmness, and there was a notable absence of agitation, explained by the fact that Americans are prepared to face these crises and will continue to face them as steadily as other nations have done. Unless all signs fail, we have reached the beginning of the end in the world's greatest tragedy. Turkey is practically beaten; Austria is almost impotent; Germany is retreating, and her submarine and Zeppelin methods of warfare are a practical failure. Not a few well informed authorities maintain that Germany is anxious to end the war, and rumors of peace are once more in the air, while evidences of grave internal dissensions among the Central Powers multiply daily. At the same time the Allies are increasing their ascendancy every day. Great Britain is at the zenith of her power; Russia has been invigorated by the revolution; the French spirit is higher and stronger than ever and Italy too, seems to have taken on new energy. Of course, Germany may be able to maintain the struggle longer than expected but only at the cost of more serious consequences to herself; and the entry of the United States into the war will certainly hasten the end.

HENRY CLEWS.

Swift Backhander.

Mrs. S. Tyle met her dearest friend, George Keen, in the street.

"How lucky to meet you!" gushed Mrs. S. Tyle. "I'm—er—we want another maid, there is too much work for two. So I'm looking for a parlor maid."

Mrs. G. Keen hid her envy under a smiling face.

"How strange," she gushed back. "I think I know the very girl for you. And I can recommend her personally, because she is leaving us next week."

Mrs. Tyle darted a suspicious look at her friend.

"But—er—why are you—er—getting rid of her?" she demanded.

Mrs. G. Keen smiled coolly. "Oh, she's given me notice, dear!" she said, with well-measured frankness. "You see, she complains that there is too much silver to clean at our house. So I know she'll just quit you!"

She'd Heard That Before.

Anahis went home to Sapphira the other day, after having lost heavily through some shady venture, and he was feeling very penitent and repentant. "Sapphira," he said, "I'm going to reform, pitch in, fix up the house, buy shoes and clothes for the children, and get you just about everything you want to dress up like a perfect lady." But Sapphira just smiled wearily. "Go on," she said, "you talk like a police commissioner."—Kansas City Star.

But Many Know It Is Not.

The Order of Fools was founded in 1331 by Adolphus, count of Cleves, for humane and charitable purposes. And some one has the temerity to declare it extinct.

Values.

The man who values his life over much, who pursues daring ambition and thinks affectionately of the talents entrusted in his body, does not risk it lightly. Nature will often play the trick of creating a big trader and making his great vitality by endowing it with an over-keen instinct of self-preservation.

THEY DO IT THIS WAY IN MURRAY

Lights Burn Again Murray Citizens Are Rescued From Darkness.

Murray, Ky., April 3.—After being in total darkness for several weeks, the residents of Murray were furnished electricity again Tuesday night. Streets had been dark for weeks. The lighting plant has suspended operations while efforts were made to have the property transferred to the city. When negotiations were broken off, the light management bought a new boiler and resumed operations. Hundreds of citizens who had resorted to the tallow dip and oil lamp rejoiced. The purchasers of $20,000 worth of city lighting bonds notified the city that because of some technicality they would be forced to cancel the purchase and reject the bonds.
